Make it a Hundred.
 Clover Lick, W. Va.—That was a pretty good sermon you preached in last week's Times, beginning "Now I know of fifty young men," so I say make it more. I had that very day been trying to impress upon some young men the fact that the timber was being taken of some good spots of land that would make good farms. Small farms and intense farming in this day is all that pays. Formerly it cost some ten or twelve dollars an acre to clear land. Now a young man can get two acres for clearing one. There never was such a time for young men of good habits to secure a competence and, perhaps, never will be again. Every well wisher for the good of the young man, for their happiness and prosperity, for the county and the country, will hold up their hands. Truly,
 JOHN LIXON.

To Rev. Wm. T. Price.
 Alexander Dowie, who says in his personality is represented the second coming of Elijah, is contemplating a descent upon New York City about the middle of October. He has notified the railway companies to make preparation to haul 4,000 citizens of his city, Zion, who will go to New York with him to convince the city of sin.

Owing to the large percentage of fatalities in railway wrecks, the postal clerks are urging the government to use postal cars framed with steel. In the list of killed it is seldom that the mail men escape. This is not only due to the mail coaches being near the engine, but also to the fact that they almost invariably telescope. By the use of steel this last danger will be eradicated.

Indian Bill's Indian Encampment.
 An entire Indian Village is one of the special features of Indian Bill's Wild West. It is not a peaked tent or two artistically daubed by some modern artist. The wigwams or tepees have been made by the Indians themselves. The people can enjoy the sight of a real Indian Village showing the modes of living and the habits of the red man, in his forest home, showing the squaws at their bead work, making moccasins, and sewing wampum, tanning hides, etc. The braves in council smoking the pipe of peace or playing with the young. And not the least attractive is the merry faced papposes that never cry, but strapped to a board are truly objects of great interest. Taking it all in all, the encampment is a scene of great interest, and one of the leading features of the Indian Bill's Wild West. Will exhibit at Marlinton on Friday Sept. 4th.

"Poison taken at 3:15 p. m.; dose one ounce, enough to make me sleep sound, don't you think? Please go away and let me sleep; don't disturb my slumbers deep." This note, found near an empty bottle which had contained laudanum, told how Clarence Britton, of Zack, Rockbridge county, had committed suicide almost with a jest on his lips at Welch, La., last week.—Ex.

Scenes Among the Indians.
 At every performance of Indian Bill's Wild West scenes of Indian life are enacted. The men show how they hunt; how they go upon their war path, how they trail, how they attack wagon trains upon the plains.
 Rites and ceremonies of all kinds are illustrated and it is positively true that no such insights into Indian manners and customs has ever been given to the general public before.

Indian Bill's Indian Encampment is one of the most interesting features of the Wild West. The wigwams or tepees have been purchased in Indian Territory and shipped east so that the public can see how the Indians live and dress and also that the redskins themselves might be comfortable in their own way.
 Will exhibit at Marlinton on Friday Sept. 4.
